GUIDELINES FOR APPOINTMENT OF HONORARY WILD LIFE WARDENS

THE NEED

1. People's participation and support is crucial for nature and Wildlife Conservation. One of the important ways of enlisting such support is by involving the community leaders and other persons of standing, who have the interest as well as the capacity to render assistance for this cause. Such assistance can be very useful in control over poaching for this clandestine trade in wild animals or their articles, identification of relatively less known wildlife refuges needing protection, carrying the message of conservation to the people living in and around the sanctuaries and national parks, and related matters. This objective can be accomplished if really suitable public men are identified, duties and appointed Honorary Wildlife Wardens, with their responsibilities, and powers clearly defined.

LEGAL STATUS

2. Section 4 of the Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972, empowers the State Governments to appoint—

- (a) a Chief Wild Life Warden;
- (b) Wild Life Wardens; and
- (c) such other officers and employees as may be necessary for the purposes of the Act.

Honorary Wild Life Wardens can be appointed under sub-section (c) of section 4 of the Act. Under section 59 of the aforesaid Act, such Honorary Wild Life Wardens shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION

3. It is very important that the right persons are selected for appointment as Honorary Wild Life Wardens. Every State has a Chief Wild Life Warden and it is mainly his duty to recommend the names of suitable person for this purpose. However, in order to assist him in this regard as well as to introduce a measure of wider participation, the members of the State Wild Life Advisory Board should be requested to suggest suitable names, especially from their own areas.

4. The following criteria should be kept in mind while assessing the suitability of a person as an Honorary Wild Life Warden:

- (a) Genuine concern for Wild Life conservation.
- (b) Personal record free of involvement in any activity detrimental to the interests of nature and Wild Life conservation.

Any person involved in commercial exploitation of Wild Life should not be considered.

- (c) Capacity to render help to the official machinery.
- (d) Local standing which make him/her effective, especially in conveying the conservation message.

Wildlife Law for Rangers

Step-by-step Charts
Detection To Conviction

"The book is an excellent ready reckoner and a useful guide to Forest Officers"

Justice A.V Chandrashekar - Former Judge, High Court of Karnataka

Praveen Bhargav

The idea of writing a book on Wildlife Law primarily for Rangers and Forest Officers developed during interactions at law enforcement training programs that Wildlife First has been conducting since 1997. Effective implementation of the Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972 and prosecution of offenders requires Forest Officers to also have a reasonable understanding of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. However, lack of formal training in law and criminal procedures makes this an intimidating subject for Rangers. The book seeks to address this major lacuna and has therefore been written in an easy to understand style along with specific wildlife related examples. The step-by-step procedure to be followed right from detection of an offence to conviction or acquittal has been illustrated in three simple color charts with all important stages covered. The book also contains a detailed chart with classification of various wildlife offences as Cognizable, Non-Cognizable, Bailable and Non-Bailable. Apart from Forest Officers, this book will be of interest to other Enforcement Officers with jurisdiction on Wildlife Offences.

Praveen Bhargav has represented Wildlife First on the National Board for Wild Life, the highest statutory body on wildlife chaired by the Prime Minister. He has also served on various expert committees of the Ministry of Environment and Forests and the National Tiger Conservation Authority and was part of the sub-committee on amendments to the Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972. He has conducted several training programs and workshops for Judicial Officers in association with Judicial Academies in many States, Police Officers under the aegis of the Karnataka Police Academy and Forest Officers/staff in association with various State Forest Departments. He has also been invited to speak on Conservation Policy and law at National Law Schools, officers at the National Academy of Customs and the State Forest Service College of the MoEF. In 2002, he was nominated for the Environmental Leaders Forum hosted by CERC, Columbia University, New York. The US Government in 2005 selected him to participate in the International Visitor Leadership Program on Public Parks & Conservation. He currently anchors the policy and litigation campaigns of Wildlife First.
